In Manitoba and Alberta, telephone service is almost wholly carried on by the provincial governments. In Saskatchewan the government operates in all the principal centres of population; but throughout the rural districts there are more than 660 independent lines on a co-operative basis.

Allowance should be made for the fact that the Bell Telephone Company, which has its chief operations in Ontario, is unavoidably credited to Quebec. The headquarters of the company are in that province.

The difference between gross earnings and operating expenses in 1916 was $7,447,066.99 as compared with $4,764,957.70 in 1915. Slightly over $2,000,000 of this increase arose from the elimination from operating expenses in 1916 of sinking fund charged thereto by the Bell Telephone Company.

The large increase in sinking fund in 1916 is due to the fact given in a preceding paragraph with respect to the Bell Telephone Company. That company, it should be explained, had charged $2,080,000, as depreciation to operating expenses; but under the scheme of accounting prescribed by the department this charge was transferred to sinking fund in Income Account.
